A Home in the Heart of the Mountains.

Our Venue in Dobrociesz

After years of searching, we found a sanctuary that seemed to have been waiting for us all along. Nestled on a southern slope in the Beskid Wyspowy mountains, surrounded by lush forests, singing birds, and a running stream, lies an old farm. This is where we are building the European Watsu Center—in the village of Dobrociesz.

We quickly realized the name of this place was no coincidence. We are breathing new life into old buildings that once sustained entire families. Supported by EU eco-grant, we are transforming this historic farm into a modern, sustainable oasis designed to feed the hunger for knowledge of healthcare practitioners from around the globe. Far from the noise of the modern world, learning and achieving deep connection with another person takes on a pure, undistracted dimension.

Open space for the Global Community

The European Watsu Center is envisioned as a home open to everyone. It is a space to meet, share, and develop skills at every level:

- For beginning students taking their very first steps in the water and guiding them through certification path.
- For advanced practitioners and instructors shaping their excellency for the future of our profession.

With the name approved by Harold Dull's family in 2019, this project is steadily taking its final shape. Every renovated stone, every session, and every day of hard work brings us closer to fully opening our doors to our first official guests.

By attending the conference you are supporting the construction of the European Watsu Center in Dobrociesz. 🌿

Every ticket helps us breathe new life into our eco-friendly mountain sanctuary and preserve Harold Dull's legacy. 🙏
